FOR TLSU President

Hello! My name is Lydia Abbotts, my pronouns are she/her and I am finishing my final year on the Musical Theatre course. I am running for the role of TLSU President as I am passionate about improving student life for the entire conservatoire body and being the right person for the job.

I have undertaken multiple positions of leadership during my time at Trinity Laban, which have given me the confidence, discipline and organisational skills required for the President position.

MY AIMS ARE:

COMMUNICATION- Improving communication will allow students to understand how their fees are used for their maximum benefit. Faster communication through a more accessible format will allow students to be fully informed on decisions taken. Promising an infinite budget isn't realistic: promising student involvement and explanations for distribution absolutely is.

REPRESENTATION- Giving a voice and a platform to under-represented communities in a safe space is the start to making change. I am committed to creating an inviting environment for people of ethnic minorities and the LGBTQIA+ community to share our experiences and take steps forward together.

UNITY- Bringing together the whole student body at Trinity Laban and bridging the divide between the faculties. COVID-19 has shown us the importance of celebration in our lives, and I believe that once restrictions have lifted that exciting events will help us rekindle this joy as a united student body.

I am fully committed to helping every student at Trinity Laban make the most out of their studies; feel supported in their wellbeing and have an incredible experience!
